

SCM

‘Those who join a seemingly harmless SCM group in some corner of NZ, risk opening themselves up to a future that is unimaginable.’

SCMA is:

Inclusive, Open

All people are welcome; we believe our diversity is a gift to be celebrated. We recognise the importance of respect for and openness to others. We encourage spiritual growth through understanding and tolerance of others' viewpoints. SCM requires no adherence to a doctrinal statement.

Ecumenical

We welcome and affirm members from all denominations; we value the rich diversity of Christian traditions and those of other faiths, while seeking unity in prayer and action.

Radical

We believe faith and social justice cannot be separated- Christians must be engaged with contemporary theological, political and social issues. We find God's desire for peace, justice and liberation from oppression throughout the Bible and in the life of Jesus. We seek to respond to God's call for conversion of self and transformation of society.

Challenging

We believe that thinking through and questioning our faith ensures that it remains alive. We believe that Christian faith can stand the test of critical thought; in fact, we believe this is the way to Christian maturity. It is not an easy way, sometimes involving a lot of risk, but ultimately that which is of value will remain and become even more important in our lives. SCM seeks to support students in the quest for a deeper faith, encouraging critical thought by providing stimulation of new ideas, and providing a supportive community in which people can explore life and faith.
